Mr. Daniel Rupprecht is a Director in iDiscovery Solutions' (iDS) Europe office. He is a qualified US attorney having practiced in both the United States and Europe. Working for a large international firm in Washington and Brussels, Daniel was a member of a team of lawyers dedicated to the delivery of eDiscovery services designed to efficiently meet the needs of the firm.

From his time in practise to the transition into the eDiscovery service industry, Dan successfully advised and managed high-profile projects through all phases of the EDRM process. More specifically, he provided guidance on large scale document reviews related to phase 2 reviews/second requests, cartel/abuse/state aid investigations, internal investigations, multijurisdictional complex litigations, and banking related matters.

Throughout Dan's career and now as a Director with iDiscovery Solution's European division, he has always used his experience to guide clients on best practices for managing large volumes of data and advise on eDiscovery solutions that best fit the matter at hand.

Mr. Rupprecht is a graduate of Vermont Law School, where he received his Juris Doctor and Master of Studies in Environmental Law, and from the University of North Carolina at Charlotte, where he received his Bachelor of Arts Degrees in Political Science and Geography/Regional Planning. Daniel is proficient in French.
