As a business development manager at iDS, Nicholas is responsible for working with corporate and legal clients to develop customized solutions for their data needs.

Prior to joining iDS, Nicholas was a senior director of strategic solutions for both D4 and Special Counsel and a global account director at EPIQ. His experience with Managed eDiscovery, Structured Data Analytics, Data and Information Governance, Cybersecurity and Data Breach Incident Response has helped countless corporations and law firms develop repeatable, defensible and cost effective information, and e-Discovery management plans.

Nicholas was drawn to iDS after learning more about their client driven approach, and how they worked to develop platforms and processes that would help solve whatever data problems they were presented. This, combined with a true commitment to providing superior service made joing iDS an ideal fit.

Nicholas lives in San Diego where he is raising 3 young boys. He loves to surf, travel, and experience new cultures.
