TRADESHOW ATTENDANCE: The Basics

Preshow Strategy

While most planning strategies focus on what happens the day of a conference or event, the reality is that a huge predictor of your success is your pre-show appointment-setting strategy. To maximize your effectiveness at the conference, you should be on their list of people to meet with before they enter the conference or event.

BEFORE EVENT

- ☐ Post about participation on social media
  - ○ Be organic
  - ○ Consider including photos or videos
- ☐ Invite database to attend
  - ○ "Save the Date" flyer
  - ○ Detailed information about the event
  - ○ Reminder
- ☐ If registration list is available, research attendees and call or email in attempt to arrange a meeting at the conference or event
- ☐ Determine list of who you intend to meet at the conference or event

DURING EVENT

- ☐ Have branded materials on hand (both swag and printed collateral)
- ☐ Attending RevPros to interact with as many attendees as possible and provide contact information to colleagues based on geography or preferred contact list
  - ○ Attend any programs or gathering (both formal in and informal)
  - ○ Gather business cards and contact information for follow up opportunities
  - ○ Find opportunities to build relationships

AFTER EVENT

Post-Show follow-up should be determined based on level of engagement with the attendee:

- ☐ Connect with attendees on LinkedIn
- ☐ Send attendees you personally met a hand-written "thank you" note
- ☐ Add attendees to your personal Salesforce Campaign
- ☐ Contact primary leads via phone/email within 48 hours of the event
  - ○ Add contacts to Salesforce
  - ○ Send email within 48 hours
  - ○ Send follow up email within 7days with collateral attached curated for that client
  - ○ Set a reminder to follow up within 30 days
- ☐ Contact potential leads within 5 days of the conference or event

info@idsinc.com | iDSinc.com | US: +1.800.813.4832 | UK/EEA: +44 (0)20 8242 4130

©2024 iDiscovery Solutions | All Rights Reserved