Jon leads the charge as Senior Managing Consultant (Team Lead), Analytics at iDS. Since 2011, he's been the go-to strategist for clients tackling data-driven challenges that demand precision, insight, and a clear path forward.

He specializes in applying leading data analytics methodologies to transform raw data into actionable intelligence – leveraging a deep understanding of relational databases, data visualization, statistical modeling, and domain expertise. Jon has delivered analytics solutions to both federal and commercial clients, spanning the areas of financial services, life sciences, and national security - with an emphasis on anti-fraud applications.

Prior to joining iDS, Jon worked at FTI Consulting and Deloitte Advisory. While at Deloitte, he helped lead an award-winning project team that developed and deployed a data analytics enterprise fraud detection platform for a large federal agency that generated cost savings of several billion dollars.
